THE RACE FOR AMERICA'S CUP.

MERICA'S CUP, the Blue Ribbon of the Sea, has inspired British yachtsmen to put forth their mightiest efforts ever since it was captured from them by the victorious Americans half a century ago. The attempts of Sir Thomas Lipton, Bart., to "lift the mug" are familiar to every American who takes an interest in sports, especially in yachting. It seems almost incredible that so much money, what would be more than an ample fortune even in these days of huge accumulations of wealth, should be spent with no other object than to secure a silver cup of little intrinsic value. A few figures concerning the cost of the pastime in which Sir Thomas is indulging so freely should be of interest to lovers of thorough sportsmanship:

He estimated the expense of his effort to get the cup in 1899 at $800,000. That, however, included $400,000 which he paid to Count Florio, of Italy, for the fine yacht ^{W.M. FIFE, DE} ^{signee.} Erin, which is now known as the Erin. This would leave his actual racing expenses in 1899 at $400,000. It is probable that the cost of the second races to him was a little over that figure, but still within $500,000. In other words, including the sum of $500,000 or thereabouts for the purchase and refitting of the Erin, the total cost to the challenger in the last two series of races was somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,300,000. But the cost of the Erin is not, of course, a legitimate factor in the estimate of the actual racing expenses. Probably these last for both series were $850,000.

Leaving the yacht owner and coming to the collateral expenses, there is crossed the Atlantic, would not have excited comment, but occurring as it did just before the cup races, it was a tacit admission on the part of her owner and designer that the yacht was not fast enough.

While the contest decides the ques-sentiments of an influential yachting element when it says that the truth is that the larger problems of yacht designing have been solved, and we owe their solution to the struggle for the America's Cup. The American type of yacht is no longer a wide, shallow hull with inside ballast and a sail plan as the largest item the cost of running the steam yacht Erin, for, say, the two months she actually is in service in connection with the races. This was estimated by a man familiar with the subject at $30 a month—$60,000 in all.

While Sir Thomas Lipton repeatedly expressed his confidence in Shamrock III's ability to win the America's Cup, it appears that his confidence was not shared by those who were actively concerned in the management of the Shamrocks. That Designer Fife, who had a reputation at stake, and who knew the challenger as a father knows his child, had grave doubts as to Shamrock III's ability to cope with Reliance was evidenced by the fact that under his orders the bowsprit of the challenger was lengthened three feet.

So radical a change in the rig of the yacht was important, not so much because it increased the area of the head sails and changed the trim of the yacht, but chiefly because, on account of having been effected on the very eve of the cup races, it indicated that the owner and designer of the yacht were not satisfied with the trim of the tion of superiority as racing machines between the Reliance and Shamrock III, there has long been a growing desire to have her in service with the Shamrock III was designed by William Fife, who also designed Shamrock I. Captain Winge, who is considered the most daring and capable seaman in all Britain, is skipper of the challenger, and to him and the speed qualities of Shamrock III Sir Thomas Lipton pinned his faith to "lift" the America's Cup.

Gustav Shaffer Used A Razor to Even Up.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Gustav Shaffer, an employee of the government printing office, murdered his divorced wife in a sensational manner tonight at Massachusetts avenue and Fourth street. She was on her way to her father's home when shaffer sprang from behind a tree and slashed at her throat with a razor. "This even's it up," he exclaimed, as the woman fell at his feet. The jugular vein was severed and she bled to death in a few minutes.

Three years ago Shaffer used his wife for a divorce, but it was not granted. A year later Mrs. Shaffer obtained a divorce on the ground of infidelity and cruelty. One of the children was given to the father and the other to the mother. Shaffer made no resistance to arrest. He confessed his crime.

As To Church Music.

Eastern (Greenville) Reflector.]

Last Sunday there was a special service at a country church near Raleigh. An orchestra from the city went out to furnish music for the occasion, but when they arrived their instruments had to be left outside the church. One deacon strenuously objected, saying "the devil had a mortgage on the fiddle and the horn, and they should not be carried in that church." And the deacon had his way. We believe that deacon was wrong, too. Why anyone should think the devil has the ownership of sweet toned musical instruments we can't see. Let them be used in praising the Lord. Too many people want to give the devil the best of everything.

Mrs. Roder later said she had attempted to murder her children and committed suicide. She locked herself and children in a room and turned on the gas, but before all were dead the husband reached them. The woman gave as a reason for the attempted murder of her children and herself self destruction that her husband, who is a textile striker, was without money, and that the family who were without food would have been forced to vacate their home today.

IS YOUR HEALTH VALUABLE?

Disease is always a handicap; it unites men for business and pleasure—sometimes temporarily, often permanently. Life is a continual struggle, and the man or woman afflicted with a Chronic Disease is outclassed at every turn. In the age of rapid travel, no man can hope to be successful unless he is in mind and body.

During my long career as a specialist, I have seen thousands who are carrying around some chronic disease as a burdensome companion, which they could easily rid themselves of by the proper treatment. Any honest physician will tell you that these diseases are stubborn and obstinate, and a special knowledge is required to treat them successfully. My special fitness for treating Chronic Diseases has been acquired by twenty years of close application, devoted exclusively to their study and treatment. I have treated more cases than any other physician in the United States, and I thoroughly understand just what is required in each case. My specialty includes all chronic diseases, such as Stricture, Varicose, Blood and Skin Diseases, Bladder and Kidney Complaints, Disease of Women, etc., and my original method of treatment has proven successful in even the most obstinate cases.

I CAN CURE YOU AT HOME.

I have perfected a system of home treatment which enables me to care you at your own home, as I have thousands of others. Write me fully about your case, and send for complete symptom blanks. Correspondence confidential. Address J. NEWTON HATHAWAY, M.D.

WAIT FOR RIPE STRAWBERRIES.

It is Said That, Eaten Out of Season, They Lead to Suicide.

An ingenious official in Washington, an assistant secretary to the district commission, who, by way of recreation and amusement, is a student of the statistics and causation of suicide, has reached the interesting conclusion that many cases of self-destruction are due to eating strawberries out of season.

"Suicide," he says, "are more frequent in the spring than at any other time. There must be some reason for it, and some time ago I suggested that strawberries were to blame. Investigations I have made have confirmed me in my opinion.

Eating strawberries out of season invariably produces mental depression, and it is when people are in low spirits that they think of suicide and kill themselves. I do not believe there would be so many suicides if people would not eat strawberries until they are ripe at home."—Argonaut.

Mrs. Hughson, of Chicago, whose letter follows, is another woman in high position who owes her health to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with general weakness and bearing-down pains, caused by womb trouble. My appetite was fitful, and I would lie awake for hours, and could not sleep, until I seemed more weary in the morning than when I retired. After reading one of your advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did. No one can describe the good it did me. I took three bottles faithfully, and besides building up my general health, it drove all disease and poison out of my body, and made me feel as spry and active as a young girl. Mrs. Pinkham's medicines are certainly all they are claimed to be."—Mrs. M. E. HUGHSON, 347 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells How Ordinary Tasks Produce Displacements.

Apparently trifling incidents in our daily life frequently produce displacements of the womb. A slip on the stairs, lifting during menstruation, standing at a counter, running a sewing machine, or attending to the most ordinary tasks may result in displacement, and a train of serious evils is started.

The first indication of such trouble should be the signal for quick action. Don't let the condition become chronic through neglect or a mistaken idea that you can overcome it by exercise or leaving it alone.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

Mrs. Lelah Stowell, 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—You are indeed a godsend to women, and if they all knew what you could do for them, there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony.

"I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, womb trouble, nervousness, and excruciating headache, but a few bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy, and I do not know what sickness is, and I now enjoy the best of health."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints,—that bearing-down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous tumors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system. Its record of cures is the greatest in the world, and should be relied upon with confidence.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

How Smart Midshipman Got Himself Out of Scrapes.

On board a man-of-war bound to San Francisco from China was a young midshipman named Walters. He was a favorite with the officers, and had in him the talent for making a fine officer. The midshipmen on board stood their watch forward, and every hour it was their duty to come aft and write up the weather columns of the ship's log, showing the readings of the barometer and thermometer pad to heave the ship's log to ascertain her speed.

The captain, in company with the officer of the deck, was walking the weather side of the deck conversing when Midshipman Walters came aft to write up the log. The barometer, a mercurial one, was hung in the captain's cabin, and Walters, after having read it, helped himself liberally to the captain's sherry on the cabin side-board. In walking the deck the captain happened to glance down the cabin skylight and saw the midshipman's proceedings. When Walters came up on deck to heave the log the captain addressed him as follows:

"How is the barometer, sir?"

Walters saluted and said: "Steadily rising, sir; steadily rising."

The captain then asked: "And how is the decane, sir?"

Walters was taken aback, but with a steady voice replied: "Steadily falling, sir; steadily falling."

This reply was too much for the captain, and, bursting out laughing, he said: "Young man, your bright reply has saved you from punishment; but it is a long way to Frisco, so hereafter I beg of you not to consult the decanter as often as you do the barometer."

MADE FROM HISTORIC TREE.

Furniture of Mulberry Planted by Bard of Avon.

Prior to 1602 Shakespeare is known to have planted a fruit orchard in the garden of Newplace, Stratford-on-Avon. According to a tradition, which, however, was put on record till 1758, when it was cut down, he planted with his own hand a mulberry tree. An old Stratford inhabitant confided to Malone that the legend had been orally current in the town onward from Shakespeare's own day, and Sidney Lee mentions that in 1609 a Frenchman named Vernon distributed a number of young mulberry trees through the Midland counties by order of James I, who, as is well known, desired to encourage culture of silk worms. Relics from this mulberry tree are highly prized. At Pottick Simpson's recently a standish, 7½ inches long by 4½ wide, apparently authentic, fetched $250, and an arm chair from the wood of the same tree will be offered for sale in London soon.

The women of the United States will probably be interested to learn that Uncle Sam is cultivating a beauty plant in the experimental farm at Washington. The women of Algeria eat the seeds of this plant to make them beautiful, and the government experts are trying to determine what grounds they have for the faith that is in them. The outcome is not a matter of much practical importance, however, for there are many beauty foods now, and little use is made of them. There are fresh fruit and vegetables, and there is absolutely no doubt about their beautifying qualities, according to Professor H. W. Wiley, the government chemist. Why this is so is not perfectly understood, but their health and beauty giving powers are marvellous, and the woman who wants bright eyes and a clear complexion can scarcely eat too much of them.
